

Learning Continuity Program

Distance Learning Options for Unexpected Closures

If your district is forced to close schools because of a natural disaster or other unforeseen circumstances, know that we're here to help. You can provide high-quality, learn-from-home options for your students with this turnkey program from Apex Learning

The Learning Continuity Program offers:

Standards-based digital curriculum for all students in grades 6-12

Expert services to plan and prepare your program

Launch services for a quick start

Curriculum

Just because school is closed, learning doesn't stop. Choose the online learning solution that works best for your district, teachers, and students.

Tutorials

For shorter term and non-credit situations, Tutorials provide daily, standards-aligned assignments that can be matched to your district's scope and sequence. Tutorials adapt so students who need help with prerequisite skills get their gaps filled and all students receive accessible on-grade instruction to keep learning moving forward. Tutorials are available for middle and high school English, math, science, social studies, college readiness, and high school equivalency.

Courses

For longer term closures, Courses keep students on track to earning credits. Courses address the core and elective needs of all students, from foundational skills to AP, and provide a gradebook to document performance.

With the Learning Continuity Program, all students in grades 6-12 can continue their learning. Administrators and teachers have access to performance and achievement data to document student use and progress while away from school. When school resumes, you'll know right where each student is.

Apex Learning Virtual School

If you have a need for teachers, Apex Learning Virtual School (ALVS) can help you fill those gaps with certified, distance learning teachers and courses.

Services: Plan and Prepare

Our success management team is devoted to making your transition to a fully digital program as seamless and effective as possible. Their expertise in implementing digital curriculum will provide you what you need to keep students on track with their learning, complete with policies and procedures for the implementation that best meets your needs.
